

This page contains the required basic commands.

Sunday, October 18, 2020 6:29 PM

Everything is Case sensitive in Linux.

Tab is used to autofill.

Double tab will show the folders with typed letters.

pwd :	Print working directory.
cd <name> :	Enter the directory <name>
cd .. :	Go back one directory
ls :	Show the folders present
mkdir <name>:	Makes a directory with the name rmdir <name>:	Removes directory of name ls -la :	Hidden folders will be shown cp <location1> <location2>:	Copy a file from location1 to 2
rm <filename> :	Removes the <filename>
mv <location1> <location2>:	Moves from location1 to 2 locate <filename>:	shows everything with the name filename
psswd:	Change password
man <anycommand>:	shows the manual page for that command
chmod 777 <file> :	Gives full access over the file adduser <name>:	Adds a user with name <name> su <username>:	Switches user to username ifconfig :	Shows different network interfaces and ip address associated with them.
iwconfig :	Shows the network adapters ping <ipaddress>:	Checks if the ipaddress is responsive and talks with it arp -a :	Shows the ipadress it talks to and mac address its associated with.
netstat -ano :	Shows active connections to the machine route :	Shows the routing table
echo "<text>" > filename :	Writes text to the file filename
>, >> :	Replaces , Appends
touch <filename> :	Creates a file filename nano <filename> :	Creates the file and opens it in the terminal cat <filename> :	Shows the content of the text file in the terminal gedit <filename> :	Same as nano but it has a GUI service apache2 start:	Starts apache2 web server python -m SimpleHTTPServer 8080 :	Starts a webserver with the ipaddress of the machine on port 8080 and the files of the machine can be accessed.
service apache2 stop:	Stops the web server systemctl enable ssh :	Opens up ssh after every booting systemctl enable postgresql :	Postgresql will run every time we boot.
apt-get update && apt-get upgrade :	Get the updates and install them

apt-get install git :	Installs git on the machine
git clone <websitelink> :	Clones the repo on the machine grep "<keyword>" :	This command can be used as a pipeline to narrow down our results with the mentioned keyword cut -d " " -f 4 :	This cuts down the result by every space and gives out the fourth term.
tr -d ":"	This removes the colon from the output